

How to create login for BMJ learning:

**NOTE- The BMJ website takes quite some time to load, between 30s to 90s per page.
Do NOT press Back or Refresh.

Step 1: go to the BMJ training website at <http://learning.bmj.com/learning/user/login.html>

Step 2: click the large blue “REGISTER NOW” button in the right-side box of the home page

Step 3: add your email address

Step 4: fill in personal info, and create password

Step 5: add specialty and field of study, select:

Profession=Member of the public, Primary Specialty=General Practice,

Other Specialty=Social Services, Other Specialty=Public Health Medicine and Epidemiology.

Step 6: Click “submit registration” (you will be redirected to a page that allows you to choose a training module or complete your profile)

Step 7: to start the training module, click “Go to BMJ Learning” [this will take about two minutes to load]

Step 8: at the top right of the screen you will find the search bar, SEARCH: Motivational Interviewing

Step 9: select the first search result (learning module): Motivational interviewing in brief consultations

Step 10: Click “Start Module”- You can now start the MI training. The training will be available to resume from your “Home” tab from the top left corner of the webpage (if you cannot complete it all in one session).

Step 11: Once you have finished the module, you can print the certificate of completion, or keep a PDF version for your records.
